Asia Today Research & Media is one of Asia's Leading Media Research & Rating Company, and is conducting a comprehensive market study and research to identify and facilitate the best Educational institutions across Asia among various categories.

The Asia Education Summit provides a wonderful opportunity to stakeholders in the field of education, all over Asia, to create opportunities for progress at national as well as international levels. The Award recognizes the professional contributions and the academic achievement of an individual/organisation in the area of education sectors.

The Awards summit will focus on the education sector and the challenges in this field: Key thematic areas will include higher education, school education, vocational, skill training, and distance learning.

Our idea is to establish the award as recognition of a significant contribution to the institution-building process as an illustrious career, a role model management academic who is well respected among the community of students, researchers, faculty and practitioners.

The Rational Hundreds of private colleges and institutions have come up across Asia offering a plethora of courses in various streams like engineering, medical, business management and many more. You may nominate one or more institutes, for which separate forms need to be filled.
